ECHOES OF

TEMPERANCE

Victory In Nicholas.

LET THE LAW BE ENFORCED.

We take the following from the Nicholas Advocate, of Carlisle:

The temperance lecture by Rev. Father Bealer, of Nicholasville, at the best ever delivered in this city. He made things so plain you could not dodge them, and his words brought conviction with them. The house was packed upstairs and down.

The fight is over and the temperance people won by 809. The total vote cast was 1943 Saloon vote 568. Temperance vote 1377.

The colored people fought for the dry to a finish; the precinct in which most of our colored people vote won 55 dry, when it was thought by some that 25 would be big.

The ladies and children by their presence on the street and at the polls made votes by the wholesale.

This is a glorious victory for Nicholas if those who voted dry will only see that the law is enforced.

The vote on the liquor question expressed the will of the people in no uncertain way, and should settle it for all time to come. The fact that this is a fair expression of the will of the people should have its weight, as far as is known not a single dollar was used on either side for the purpose of influencing any voter, and with such an overwhelming majority as this it seems that this troublesome question has been placed at last where it belongs, and should never come up again.

And now the committee of the Good Citizenship League, who worked so faithfully and the good ladies who used their strength and might to bring about such a glorious result, should be rewarded by the faithful assistance of every officer of the law in helping to see that the law is rigidly enforced against every violator, regardless of race or condition.

The law which goes into effect just as soon as the vote has been spread upon the records of the courts, which will be court day, October 8, is the most stringent temperance law that has been placed upon our statutes, and comes it within the "smallest limits" ever before in our county, and can be sold only as compound for medicinal purposes; the physician having thrown around him the most stringent laws possible. We do not believe that the physicians of our county are of that class of men who would peddle out whiskey, or a compound to demoralize the community in which they live. Indeed we know that most of them are gentlemen of high character and that they would condemn such a business. We further believe and hope that they will do as they have done in other counties, pledge themselves as a body to use their influence to have the law enforced in every respect.—Good Citizenship League.

Whilst there has been a great deal of surmise and guessing as to the result of the vote on the Unit Bill in the county, we have never from the first doubted the result, always claiming that what was right, is right. As true Democrats, and fathers of families, the matter was discussed, and the result goes to show as Democrats we helped to win the prize for the good women and men who were working so nobly for their cause. If they had only known how quietly their supposed enemies were yielding their influence to this great move, they would not have felt any uneasiness whatever.

I was called from home for a few days on my tobacco business in Cincinnati, but I was at home to cast my vote and take my good wife's advice.

Respectfully,

W. J. Reed,
Chairman Democratic Committee.

The Carlisle Mercury says:

"The anti-saloon people won by a majority of 811, which clearly indicates that the people of Nicholas are in earnest as to the sale of liquor in this county, and it is a warning to those who have heretofore or may hereafter engage in the illicit sale of intoxicating liquors, for it is a sure thing that public opinion is so strong that it will be an easy matter to enforce the law."

"And this is right. The law should be enforced strictly—not vindictively but with such firmness that no one can mistake the determination of the people. Surely those who undertake to violate the law against the sale of liquor in this county can not ask such mercy, for there is no excuse for any one running his head in a fire that is so hot and so apparent as is the anti-saloon fire in Nicholas county."

Stops sarache in two minutes; toothache or pain of burn or scald in five minutes; hoarseness, one hour; muscleache, two hours; sore throat, twelve hours—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, monarch over pain. 12-57.

The Exquisite Garment Models For Fall.

They're All Ready.

Charming indeed, with an abundance of style with every new design thought thrown in.

These garments represent the masterstroke of high class tailoring, free from the sweat shops—made in well lighted—well ventilated establishments by men tailors well up in the art of ideal garment-making.

Perfection, Yes! From the button-holes to the inner linings. These are not the products of ill paid labor, but worthy Fall Suits, and Jackets and Cloaks. Skirts that rank among the "best" in one of the finest tailoring shops in the country.

Notably among the New Fall Creations is the Price Chap—a sturdy little suit for women, with just enough style in the make-up to fascinate the careful dresser. Then comes the Pony Jacket Suits—chic and embodying the correct principles which go to make up the perfect costumes. And there's a score of other good creations ready and willing to pass the most careful inspection.

Jackets in the trim fall shapes and coats of the long and gracefully flowing styles. Raincoats of superb styles. Skirts in the fashion formed pleasing effects.

And all priced—surprisingly low priced.

New Cars for Winchester.

Two new street cars were shipped over the C. & O. Tuesday from Lexington to Winchester to replace old cars now in operation in that city. The Central Kentucky Traction Company which purchased the plant and rolling stock, is equipping the road with improvements.

Show Burns in Winter Quarters.

At Geneva, O., Cummins' Wild West Show was destroyed by fire in winter quarters. One man was burned to a crisp. All the animals except four elephants and two horses were consumed. The loss will be about $40,000.

Victory For State Local Option Law

Common Carriers Not Obligated to Accept Whiskey For Dry Towns.

At Bowling Green, Ky., Judge J. M. Galloway handed down a decision in the case of J. T. Doores & Co., asking for a mandatory injunction against the Green and Barren River Boat Co. to compel them to accept and transport whiskey into local option territory. The decision is lengthy and refuses the injunction.

He holds that the boat company, although a common carrier, has a right to refuse liquor destined to local option places, notwithstanding the shipment may be made at some point outside the State.

The shipments were made from the branch house of J. T. Doores & Co., at Nashville, Tenn. The decision is regarded as a victory for the local option law. J. McKenzie Moss was the attorney for the boat line and Sims & Grider for Doores & Co.

Public Sale.

On the premises, 2½ miles from Howard's Mill, Thursday, October 11th, I will sell my farm containing 140 acres. Kentucky Racing Commission Law Is Constitutional.

The Kentucky Racing Commission law was declared constitutional and the injunction against the Racing Commission was dissolved and the case remanded to the lower court by Judge Cochran. The last Legislature passed the racing commission law to avoid conflicting dates on tracks at the same place and to avoid too long meetings at any one point.

SUIT AGAINST COMMISSION.

The Douglas Park track at Louisville brought suit preventing the holding of a race meeting during the time set for a rival track. The lower court granted the injunction, and the case was appealed.

QUESTION OF PUBLIC WELFARE.

The higher court said that the whole case turned on the question of the public welfare. Where a business may be lawful, the enforcement of limitations may be harmful to someone engaged in the business, but the point of the public welfare would have to govern.

MOTIVES HELD NOT IMPROPER.

As to the motives that led to the enactment of the present law, the court did not find that these had been improper, public welfare again being the deciding point. Even a law prohibiting the holding of some races would be valid on account of the evils of pool-rooms.

Civilization and the Welfare of the Island Demands American Annexation—Must Save Her from Herself.

On Thursday at Des Moines, Iowa, Senator Beveridge said:

"From Santiago to Havana the Cuban flag still flies, visible proof to the world of our intention not to raise the American flag and establish American Government there until the Cuban people themselves compel us to do so; until events which are the commands of God order us to do so; until the cause of civilization and the cry of despairing liberty force us to do so. For when the American flag is raised over Cuba again it must never be lowered."

"Our record must be as clear as our intentions are pure. But speaking for myself alone and for no one else, I believe that in re-establishing the Cuban Government all the world knows that we are doing the work of Sisyphus—rolling the stone to the top of the hill to see it roll back again."

"Hereafter when the American flag is raised it must never be hauled down. The flag was never raised but in honor—was never hauled down but in mistake and disgrace. It was a mistake when we hauled it down in Cuba; it was a disgrace when we hauled it down in Hawaii; and now let the circumstances be such that whenever it is raised hereafter, it will never be hauled down."

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce
HON. J. WILL CLAY,
as a candidate for the Legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic party Nov. 5th.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress
F. A. HODGINS,
of Ford County.

The temperance people may intelligently decide who they should support for United States Senator by answering these questions: Not what the candidates opinions along temperance lines are, but what they are doing or propose to do. What would they do if United States Senators?

Has the present Senator ever offered a bill looking to wiping out of the traffic in the United States. Has he ever declared himself on this subject. Did things tend that way when he was Governor.

Answer these questions and then line up with the man that is doing something. Talk is cheap. You may judge a man's future only by what he is now doing or by his past record.

WHAT IT MEANS.

A few weeks ago McCrory followers claimed the re-election of Senator McCrory over Gov. Beckham by 75,000 majority and now they are talking 20,000. The fact is an awful change has taken place and Governor Beckham is in the swim. Indications point to his nomination by a decided majority.

For the Democratic nomination for the Legislature the candidates should define with clearness their position on all questions that may come before them. We know Mr. Clay what he stands for, and heartily commend his course. Will his opponent give us his opinion on public questions?

Would it not be well for Mr. Sterling councilmen to begin to look into the matter of better streets and a system of sewerage? We can have them if we want them just as well as the owner of a home can improve it if he wants to.

WHICH?

The prosperity of a city, county or State depends largely on the financial capacity of the officials at the head of it, and it is now up to the people to force ahead, to stand still or retrograde. Which?

Mt. Sterling business is very good. This is due to active business men, large stocks of goods and a fine patronage.

Every law loving man and woman will commend Judge A. W. Young for his determined efforts to enforce the laws.

Cravens will conduct your sales. 13-4t.

Lost.

A small Camo pin. Return to W. S. Lloyd and receive reward.

Last Notice to Taxpayers!

Don't wait until the last day. 12 per cent penalty and other costs will be added November 1st.
C. R. PIKEWITT,
Sheriff of Montgomery County.
13-4t.

TO THE DEMOCRATS OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY:

In my original card of announcement, I said, "If nominated and elected, I hereby pledge myself to vote for the nominee of the Democratic State Primary for U. S. Senator." This pledge I shall fulfill to the letter. It shall be a pleasure for me to vote for either of the distinguished democrats now announced as candidates for this high office. Personally, I shall feel grateful indeed if given the democratic nomination for Representative, and believe that this is all that I should ask at your hands. I am not a dictator to my party, and shall not attempt to name for you the next U. S. Senator or any member of the Democratic State Ticket. I want to feel free to vote and work for either you should choose. Therefore, nominate your choice and your selection will receive my hearty support. I am more than willing to let the loyal Democrats of Kentucky, and especially Montgomery County, by their ballots say whom the nominee shall be, and I want to again pledge myself, if nominated and elected as your Representative, to vote and do all in my limited power for the Democratic nominee for U. S. Senator, be he Senator McCrory or Gov. Beckham, and to use my utmost endeavors for the success of the entire Democratic State Ticket, as named by you, whether you see fit to honor me or not.

Permit me to express my appreciation of your past treatment of me, and to thank you in advance for a favorable consideration of my claims. Your obedient servant,
J. WILL CLAY.

W. B. O'Connell declined to pay his part of admission fee for the Appellate court clerkship, but will claim the privilege of waiting until the 15th day before the date of primary, to decide whether or not he will enter the race.

Burglar.

On Thursday night a burglar visited the premises of Mrs. Fannie Moberley in the country. The family had gone to bed, the colored farm hand, Ben Turley, was cleaning a gun, and hearing some one by the milk house, he went out, thinking it Mr. Tom Moberley. He saw a much larger man than himself either a white man or mulatto, wore white hat with large brim, a short overcoat and had a white bundle in his hands. The man walked from him. Ben aroused the family, the burglar got over the fence and was standing close to it. When the family came out he ran through the orchard. Ben fired, the man dropped bundle and ran. The bundle contained 3 or 6 lbs butter. Close to the fence were 6 cans preserves, four more cans now missing which it is believed he had in his pockets. The next visit he makes he will not find the family wasting potatoes.

EXTRACTS

From Report of R. M. Hopkins, Bible School Evangelist of Christian Church.

Organized Bible School work among Christian churches in Kentucky began at Paris, Nov. 4, 1873. The movement has met with many vicissitudes. An historical paper setting forth this movement will be presented at next convention by P. H. Duncan.

A salient feature during the year has been the emphasis upon the work of the pastor in the school. He must prepare himself for teaching as he does for preaching. He must solve the school problems for the edification of his congregation by familiarity with the latest books on Bible School principles. He should stand for careful study of Bible by every member of the church and every member being in the school. He must be a teacher of the teachers.

The pastor is responsible for the preaching in his pulpit and should be for the teaching done in his school.

EVANGELIST.

During the year he traveled 18,246 miles; labored in 58 counties, visited 120 schools, was in 61 institutions, attended 38 conventions; organized 5 county conventions and planted 5 schools and turned over to the treasurer above all expenses $354.58.

The County Conventions have never lacked attendance.

The Kentucky Christian Bible School Association was incorporated Feb. 5, 1906. No effort for permanent endowment has been made.

A uniform teacher training course has been recommended.

CENTENNIAL.

Our Bible School will raise $25,000 by October, 1909, with which to endow a chair in the College of the Bible at Lexington devoted to Bible School work. The trustees will employ a specialist for instructing every student who enters the College. A two years course will be prescribed. Shares valued at $10 each will be issued to raise this $25,000.

At the Convention on Thursday, the 27th, an offering for this work was taken and $11,650.75 subscribed.

MISSIONS.

Last year the Kentucky Schools gave on Children's Day—1st Sunday in June, for Foreign Missions $4,672.86. This was given by 221 schools, a gain of 7 schools. Hopkinsville led with $325, Mayville second, $225. Six including Paris and Winchester gave more than $100 each.

Boy's and Girl's Rally Day, Sunday before Thanksgiving, for Home Missions resulted in 123 schools giving $1583.52. Kentucky leads the States. One half of this fund is returned to the State making it.

In Kentucky 249 schools contributed for the State work.

Mayville school had the largest offering, $75.

ROLL OF HONOR.

To obtain a place on the Roll of Honor a school must observe Children's Day for Foreign Missions, Boy's and Girl's Rally Day for home missions. 82 schools had that place this year, a gain of 21.

After holding a session of about a week, the Grand Jury only returned a small number of indictments and only two of those were for the illegal sale of whisky in Owensville and one of those was against a man that had run off. Information had reached the ears of Circuit Judge A. W. Young that this subject had not received enough attention and that a number of the most important witnesses were temporarily out of Bath county to avoid testifying. After discharging the jury Judge Young at once selected another Grand Jury to meet Monday, October 15, for the purpose of investigating this subject. For the witnesses that were running from the Grand Jury, he issued attachments and issued a subpoena for a number of others.

Judge Young says he is determined to prove to the people of this district that the prohibition law will prohibit the illegal sale of whisky, and in this the people are behind him. We have plenty of good laws. What we need is a few more public officials like Judge Young, who is always ready to enforce the law and to discharge his full duty.

Voted for the First Local Option Bill in the State.

Nicholasville, Ky., Oct. 4.—Senator McCreary addressed 500 people here this afternoon.

Senator McCreary stated his position on the temperance question clearly. He is for local option and voted in 1874 for the first local option bill in the State. He denied emphatically that he has ever received pecuniary aid from the whisky men, and said he believed in the enforcement of the law, both as regards closing saloons on Sunday and gambling.

Watches on Exhibition.

The Democratic Congressional Committee has gone into the watch business, having received from New York a consignment of watches which it intends to distribute among the Ky. speakers. The idea is to make a practical demonstration of trust methods of selling abroad at prices less than those charged the home consumer.

These watches were sold in England and reimported at a cost, freight added, less than the prices to the American dealer. They cost the committee $7.08 each. The trust price here is $10.58. Each watch is accompanied by a card containing the number and history of the movements and case, showing when and to whom sold at what price. In this way, the sale abroad and reimportation is verified.

STEIN-BLOCH SMART CLOTHES

THE STYLES

That well-dressed men will wear in Overcoat this fall covers almost every field of want. To those that are interested as shall endeavor to give an out line of the garments. No matter where you live, if you want what is right, and can't find it there, write or come to us, we can serve you.

For the Extreme Young Fellow who wants a coat that is Up-to-the-Minute We show the

LOUIS THE XV.

This garment varies in length to suit the height of purchaser; made mostly in greys, blacks and blues, in quiet patterns in herring bone weaves and self-stripes, in smooth and rough finished cloths. This garment traces the out-lines of the form severely, it has a distinct waist showing but no waist line, and flares out over the hips with a generous skirt which is tightly creased on the side seams. In the center seam is a 22-inch open hook cut which allows freedom in walking; the sleeves are large and finished with a 3-inch circular cuff. Taking it all in all the LOUIS THE XV is the dressiest coat turned out of a tailor shop in many a season.

The Prices are Fixed $25 and $30. Asked to be shown one.

THE NEW ENGLISH TOP COAT.

Is an exact reproduction of the Louis the XV, only cut in regular top coat length, not showing the waist line so plainly, yet tracing the form suggesting the present tendency of the mode. This coat varies in length from 31 to 35 inches, to suit the height of purchaser, and has a short hook vent in center seams.

We also show the London Topper, a very snappy boxy coat for men who like the full-backs. These garments come in whip cords, coverts and rough faced chevrons of the season's shades.

Range in Price from $10 to $25. Come and see them.

THE LONG, LOOSE RAGLANDS

Come in for their share of popularity. Young fellows and older ones who want style and comfort combined seek the RAGLAN, which has been improved until every chance nearer perfection has been edged off the board. Thelets, Vicunas club cheeks, solid greys and tans are the best looking and best suited cloths for this garment. Cravenettes are popular in this style, and we show them all. The Raglan to be right should be 54 inches long, extremely full, boxy back and perfectly straight front, extreme large sleeves and hang with out a draw. If the Raglan is not properly balanced its nothing. Our Raglans are right or they would not be here.

Your Fall Suit AND Overcoat

SHOULD COME FROM THE House of Walsh Bros.

FOR A HUNDRED REASONS.

We are showing the largest stock by far of any store in this section. Our qualities and makes are beyond the question of a doubt the best that American manufacturers, who are ahead of the world—yes head and shoulders—can make. The styles are the exact reproduction of the best Fifth Avenue Tailors. Even style of cloth is selected to suit the garment it is best fitted for, the trimmings, the stitching and even the buttons are matched and studied for the wear and appearance they may add to this or that suit or overcoat. It is all done before you come to try it on; yes all done that we may please you better and impress you at the first glance that master hands who knew what they were about had gathered together clothing fit for a king—fit for you. Our line this season embraces many new and striking novelties that cannot be found in any other Mt. Sterling clothing house, and our prices, too, are as low or lower, when quality is at all considered, than any store anywhere. A look, a try on, will convince. We bid you come. A pleasure to show you whether you buy or not.

WALSH BROTHERS,
THE HOUSE OF QUALITY.

THE CHESTERFIELD

A medium length overcoat, cut on standard lines, never changing in style, always modest, always conservative and always proper for men of quiet tastes, 43 inches long, cut roomy, but not baggy, can be found here from the medium prices to the finest in existence. We show herring bone worsteds, fine thelets, Carr's, Melton's Moul's and beavers in blacks, blues, oxford greens and fancy worsted. These garments are works of art, both in weave and workmanship. We would like for the man who wants the best to drop in and just see what kind of clothes WALSH BROS. are selling. We say our offering surpasses any store in Kentucky in points of style, selection, quality and lowness of prices, and we can prove it.

Chesterfields from $10 to $35 Silk and Serge Lined.

THE REGENT

A new overcoat between the Louis the XV and the Chesterfield, a coat that fills the gap of the man who don't want a loose coat or severe form tracing garment. The REGENT just fits and looks stylish without any bold suggestions. The cloths shown in this garment are very striking, being in dark colors and modest combinations.

The Prices Range from $10 to $25. Call and See Them.

You can see that we cover almost every field of want. Ask to see the REGENT. The length is 45 inches.

BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S OVERCOATS

Are cut on exactly the same lines as the men's coats, having the same character and styles, and we show everything in every kind of cloth from the London Topper for little fellows to the Raglan, also a big line of Cravenettes for the boys. Don't take him to a dry goods store to buy his clothes and lose his individuality. A boys' store for the boys—bring him here.

BRUIN MADE GINGER CAKE

Varacious Guide Told of Intelligent Bear That Once Visited His Camp.

"I'm the biggest liar of the bull lot of ye," Ed Rocco used to say, as he sat in front of the camp fire. Every night when the dishes were washed he would light his pipe, throw a fresh birch log on the fire and be ready to talk on any subject that might come up, and even if he didn't know anything about it, it is an even bet that none of the other guides ever guessed it, for in some positions his imagination was superb.

"Give us a bear story," I asked him one night, with the following rather startling result.

"Many of the bears I have shot in the woods, but I'll never forget the big one I let get away because he was so wise. I thought he would come back to my camp ground, and there was Mr. Bear noddin' around amongst our grub, just like he was at home, and never a smell of us, and we within handy spankin' distance of him—so I told the sport to keep still, and there he sat in the canoe and watched him. First, he knocked over the jug of sirup, and the cable, and he rolled in it till I thought he'd stick to the ground. Then he waddled over to the four barrel and upset that and got the flour stuck to the sirup until he looked mighty like a polar bear from Alaska. When he thought he was enough stuck on himself he walked over to our fire, and rolled around pretty near close enough to it to get burned for about five minutes. Now, if he wasn't making ginger cake for the little cubs he had left back in the woods, you can put me down for the biggest liar you know."—Recreation Magazine.

CONSTIPATION

Is no respecter of age, and is just as common a condition among children as it is with their parents. The condition is far more likely to reach an acute stage, develop seriously with the little folks, because of the difficulty in detecting it.

Many a child has died from constipation, or illness arising from it, when it might have been saved by the timely use of

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

This is the greatest remedy known for correcting constipated conditions. Don't wait until your child is affected, but administer a dose of the medicine occasionally.

You will notice a perceptible change for the better, a healthy color and a livelier disposition. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a good thing to have in the house, because it is good for the whole family.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can be obtained in both dollar and half-dollar sizes from all druggists.

Your money will be refunded if it does not benefit you.

Your postal card request will bring by return mail one new bottle, "DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP OF PEPsin," and free samples to those who have never tried this wonderful remedy. Mothers write today.

"Why don't you propose if you love her?"

"She hasn't known me long enough."

"Great Scott, man, propose at once then. Don't take any chances."

RELIEVED.

"In time," said the doctor, "this trouble may affect your mind."

"Oh," she replied, with a sigh of relief, "I was afraid you might say it would ruin my complexion."

OBEYED INSTRUCTIONS.

GIVEN JOLT ON HONEYMOON

Circumstances Caused Better Half of Pair to Ride Long Distance Without Hubby.

"One of the funniest things I have seen in all the time I've been on the road was the separation of a newly married couple by the breaking of a train on the way down to St. Louis awhile ago," said a Chicago traveling man.

"We were going down on the Alton road and shortly before we got to Springfield the inferior snail of the newly wedded pair strolled into the smoker. Flopping himself into a seat across the aisle from me, he commenced to praise the innumerable virtues of his wife.

"She was the finest little woman in the world, the cleverest, the handsomest, the best dressed and so on. And then he had to tell what they were going to do when they got to St. Louis. He became so excited during the narration of his story that he talked considerably louder than was necessary, and every one in the car knew all about the woman and her husband. He never heard the brakeman announce that the train was to be broken at Springfield and proceed to St. Louis in two sections. No one had the heart to tell him. And the little woman back in the train thought all was well.

"Shortly after we left Springfield, Mr. Benedict ambled back toward the rear of the train in a leisurely manner, but when he discovered that the last half of the train was some miles behind there was something odd. He was thoroughly angry and stormed around, doing all sorts of unnecessary talking. He threatened to bring a damage suit against the railroad company, or to beat the head of the conductor and all the road officials. No one could pacify him. When we stopped at the next station the conductor wired the bride on the following train that her hubby would wait for her at Alton.

"How she stood the long ride without her man we never knew, but it's altogether likely that she nearly cried her eyes out at the forced separation. As the first half of the train stopped at Alton, we all bade good-by to the unhappy groom and left him there awaiting the arrival of his bride."

HE CAME DOWN WITH A HEAVY STEP.

BATS GIVEN SIXTH SENSE.

Living So Much in the Dark, Creatures Have No Need to Use Their Eyes.

"If you blind a bat," said a biologist, "the creature somehow will still see. If you doubt this, consult Levy.

"Levy, the great authority, once removed the eyes of several bats and covered the vacant sockets with leather patches. In this condition the bats flew about the room, avoiding the walls and corners and when a door was opened they flew out of it without touching the jamb or the frame.

"Afterward, in flying through a sewer, that made a right angle, the bats turned at the proper point without brushing the walls, and they flew through the ceiling without touching them.

"Bats, living in the dark, have found their eyes almost useless, and have developed a sixth sense that takes the place of eyesight."

DESCENDANT OF POLARIS

Sole Grandfather of Queen of Spain a Man of Very Humble Position.

The blood of prince and peasant, so it is said, mingle very 100 years. A striking instance is the case of Princess Victoria, now the wife of Alfonso XIII.

Here is the story as given by the modern: "First came the emperor of Russia, to the throne of Great Britain, Princess Empress of Russia, and as nearly related to a family circle.

"Toward the beginning of last century a Polish Jew, Haskel, by name, entered the service of the duke of Hesse-Darmstadt and occupied a very subordinate position at the little court. His daughter, Julia Theresa, born in 1825, was, at the age of 26, married organically by Prince Alexander of Hesse, two years junior.

"Renouncing the faith of her fathers, she was baptized into the Protestant church, and by the reigning grand duke was accorded the title first of countess of Hattenberg and subsequently of princess.

"Prince Henry, the third child of this union, became the husband of Princess Beatrice and, of course, father of Princess Ena, King Alfonso's bride. So little was he considered as belonging to the inner circle of European royalty that when Queen Victoria conferred upon him the rank of royal highness protests arose on all sides.

"Formal notifications were made by the courts of Berlin, Vienna and St. Petersburg to the effect that Queen Victoria's son-in-law, issue of a morganatic union, could not be recognized as royal highness elsewhere than on British territory. Twenty years later the daughter of the man on whom this affront is put becomes queen of Spain and rests on a footing of perfect equality with the reigning monarchs of Europe."

Treating Wrong Disease.

Many times women call on their family physician, suffering as they are from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from kidney disease, another from nervous debility, or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present to themselves and their doctors a confused and indefinite picture, separate and distinct diseases, for which, in attempting them to be cured, they take pills and potions. In reality, they are all one disease, and the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until their little ailments, the suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the improper treatment and consequent complications.

A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until their little ailments, the suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the improper treatment and consequent complications.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skilled physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is an aid of native medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in the condition of the system.

STAMP MOVED UP THE WALL.

Explanation Was Simple, But Clerk May Be Pardoned for Feeling Slightly Nervous.

"An old gentleman," remarked the major to a Portland Express reporter, "bought some stamps from me one day last week, and after molesting one of them it slipped from his finger and fell to the floor. He did not bother to pick it up, and after affixing another stamp on his letter left the store and I forgot all about the incident. A few minutes later my clerk came into the store from the rear room, and at once his face attracted my attention for he seemed to be troubled about some of the stamps called fixedly in a certain direction. Calling over to me he said: 'I do not think I am crazy, but I do see something that I cannot understand.'"

He looked where he pointed and distinctly saw the postage stamp moving steadily up the side of the wall.

"The explanation is this: The stamp which the old gentleman dropped had fallen on a fly and stuck to it."

QUIET STREAM OF ANTIETAM

Pretty Little Brook on Whose Banks Was Fought Most Terrific Battle in American Annals.

But for the most terrific battle in the annals of American war a pretty little stream that flows through the heart of Maryland would be unknown beyond its immediate locality. Winding slightly down from the Pennsylvania hills, it bends romantically in its course, now past the ancient mill, under its quaint bridges, stone-arched, limning its way through sun and shadow, and like Tennyson's brook, goes on forever.

There is no more picturesque part of our country than that through which the Antietam flows. It skirts the most beautiful farms of Maryland, leaves the rounded limbs of the pine while they drink in the shadows of the trees that line its banks, and finally loses itself in the broad Potomac.

Time was, and not very long ago, when the farms of the Antietam, fording its shallows, dreamed not of the great drama to be enacted there. No murmur from afar sought this entrancing region and the barbed-forge-boy, also oblivious of its beauties, angled for eel with the patience of the renowned Irish Waterman.

"Where the Antietam flows," by Thomas C. Harbaugh, in Four-Track News.

HIS REMARK QUITE UNKIND

Caddy's Comment Failed to Give Satisfaction to Gaffer Already Discouraged.

Walter J. Travis, the golfer, set up his ball, and then made a half dozen swishes at the short grass with the club.

"I am not in good form," he said, "I am playing like a broker who had been last week."

"That broker played once around, making a dreadful exhibition of himself. Of this, though, he was not aware. He was doing pretty well for some time."

"The man's caddy was an unusually quiet, stolid lad, a boy with a freckled face quite devoid of expression.

"Since the caddy never once laughed or sneered at his bad play the broker took a fancy to him. And he said at the end of the round, in the hope of getting a compliment:

"I have been traveling for the last six months. I am quite out of practice. That is why I am in such bad form to-day."

"The caddy replied calmly: 'Then ye've played before, have ye, sir?'"

Kindling Wood as Diet.

John Maglin, a well-educated Londoner, has lost some Americans one better. Among our line of raw foods and health foods are means that closely resemble excelsior in taste and food value, but it was left to the above-named crank to discover that wood, ordinary kindling wood, is an excellent food and medicine. Maglin chews bits of wood as any ordinary man being devoted to a delicious bit of tenderloin, and he hypnotizes himself into believing that it is superior to the best brown bread in flavor.

Unfortunately, the doctors stopped the fool at it was evident that he was slowly committing suicide. It would have been better if he had been allowed to go on, so that his ultimate death might serve as a warning.

The Scientific Method.

"George Bernard Shaw," said an editor, "used to poke fun at scientists. He ridicules the high regard in which scientists are held. He says if a clergyman darts out with a startling statement, he is disbelieved and reviled, whereas the rabble, the most uneducated claims of scientists are accepted reverently by the world at large. He said that was a typical scientist, a young man who took a superb cigarette holder of clouded amber. 'Some one claims,' said the young man, 'that this amber is imitation. Will you tell me how I may prove conclusively its genuineness?' Just so, it said the scientist, 'for 24 hours in alcohol, if it is genuine, it will disappear.'"

HOG NEARLY BURNED CITY

Set Ablaze by Falling Lamp, Animal Unconsciously Grew Even with Man That Threw It.

The entire east side of town narrowly escaped being burned at night and nothing but prompt action upon the part of those present averted it, says a dispatch from Dresden, Tenn.

Fate Perry, a clerk at Truck's restaurant, went to the room upstairs over the restaurant about 11 o'clock to retire. He lit a lamp, which caught fire within, and Perry promptly threw it into the street. The lamp struck a town hog fairly in the middle of the back and exploded, covering the hog with burning oil. The squeals of his boisterous could have been heard half a mile away as he awoke to the situation and tried to get away.

The hog took a turn around a part of the public square and returned to where he was first assaulted and ran under the restaurant from which the lamp was thrown to get release from the flames. The blaze by this time had begun to roar and smoke and roadway and soon set the floor and rubbish under the building afire. The alarm was raised and the entire fire of the called out, but for some time they could neither set the hog out or reach the fire. Finally the floor was torn up and water poured through upon the hog, who, for the relief of offered him without a grunt and the fire was finally put out. All losses, except the hog's, were covered by insurance.

Oriental Brewery Trust.

There is a brewery trust in Japan. Once Japan imported all the beer she consumed. After a time she learned how to make her own beer, and at several places breweries were established with Japanese capital. These for a time competed with the imports.

In 1904 the government itself commenced, planned, initiated and organized the brewery trust of Japan, and now directs the trust's operations. Under government direction the trust has thrived amazingly, and while stupid competitors have been eliminated, no one has been injured, no one has been garroted or robbed. Meanwhile under government control the amount of beer exported from Japan in 1905 was double the amount exported in 1904, and the amount exported in 1906 will probably double the amount exported in 1905.

The trust is beginning to export the beer trade in China and Korea. Everybody's Magazine.

Retainer Was Retained.

Edward M. Nason, superintendent of buildings for New Hampshire, tells the following anecdote of Daniel Webster: One day a man came to Webster's office and consulted him in regard to a prospective lawsuit. At the close of the conference he paid the attorney a retainer of $100 after the matter. Upon returning to his place of business he found that his partner had already settled the suit, obtaining the sum demanded without an attorney. He thought $100 was altogether too much for an office fee, so he dispatched his clerk to look after the matter. Mr. Webster, said the young man, "my employer thinks you should return a part of your retainer. That case has been settled."

"Young man," said the lawyer, "go back and tell your employer that a retainer is something to be retained."

His Knowledge of Weeds.

At a suburban residence near Philadelphia there recently appeared an advertisement in which a man asked for employment. It chanced that his application was made to the lady of the house herself, who was superintending the transplanting of plants in the garden.

"Are you a gardener?" asked the lady.

"Ain't had much experience at gardening," was the reply.

"Can you plant these bushes?" "I'd hate to risk spoilin' em, mum."

Irrigation in Nevada.
The irrigation work of the national government has made its first great conquest in this same Nevada. Into this parched sand and sagebrush the water was turned last year from the works of the "Carson and Truckee project." It was the most important event in the history of the state, of more lasting value even than the discovery of the Comstock lode. From the massive masonry dam constructed to hold the waters of the Truckee river
the blessed flow was turned over 50,000 acres.

This was the first completed
section of a plan which is to irrigate almost 1,000,000 acres of desert. This means, within a few years, 50-acre farms for 20-000 families, on which they are certain of large and profitable crops. It means also new towns and cities to supply this great farming community with the products of the mills and mines and factories of the country, east and west.

More than that, it means a new population of perhaps 200,000 souls and a prosperous principality added to the greatness of the union. It is all purely credit, for wealth is made where there was none before, and magnificent opportunity offered for independent and self-reliant livelihood to those who hunger for it.
—Outing Magazine.

Prescribed for Himself.

Little Alice has an aged uncle who lives near her and whom she regards as an inexhaustible
source of ice cream, candy, toys and nickels. The other day Alice, in playing about, got her foot jammed between two stools which came close together, and in the operation of extracting the little one from her predicament
the foot was badly abraded.
That night she sat on the stoop of her house, her injured foot done up with bandages and her mind rueful that she could not sport with her companions. To her appeared her aged and benevolent uncle.

"Well, well, little one," said he, "how is the foot getting on to-day?"

"Oh, it is better," replied Alice with a sigh, "it is a little better.
But it only had some ice cream."
The prescription was filled at once and really did seem to afford instant relief.

Food for Plants.

"How do you keep your palms looking so fine and healthy?"
asked a young housekeeper of an old one, whose apartment is a perfect bower of ferns and palms.
"I fed them oysters all winter," said the successful one. "Whenever we had oysters for dinner I dug up the earth a little around the roots of the plants and put an oyster in each."

"Himmel!" exclaimed the third,
who was a German. "I pour the stale beer on mine always. It is fine for them."
"Mercy!" said the young housekeeper. "I wouldn't know whether I was running a conservatory or a table d'hôte."

Allages of the Great.

Some investigators of curious subjects has discovered that the inventor of traveling incognito was Peter the Great of Russia.
The next after the famous Russian sovereign to adopt the practice was Joseph II. of Austria, who in 1777 made a little stay in Paris under the title of Count von Falkenstein. During the revolutionary period Louis XVIII. buried his temporary useless royal dignity under the privacy of Comte de Marles. The Empress Eugenie in her spectacular frequently took little trips
as the Comtesse de Pierrefonds.
King Leopold does so still as Comte de Ravenstein.—Exchange.

Put to the Proof.

"Then you guarantee these corsets—I mean this corset—to be unbreakable?"
"I do, miss," said the salesgirl, frigidly. "I have been wearing a pair myself for a year and they're not broken yet. And I," she added, with a deep blush, "am engaged."

FLUE CURING IMPROVES TOBACCO LIKE ROASTING IMPROVES GREEN COFFEE

Flue Curing Develops the Stimulating Aroma and Taste Found In Schnapps that Satisfies Tobacco Hunger

There are three ways used by farmers for curing and preparing their tobacco for the market; namely, sun cured, air cured and flue cured. The old and cheap way is called air cured;
the later discovery and improved way is called flue cured. In flue-curing the tobacco is taken from the field and suspended over intensely hot flues in houses especially built to retain the heat, and there kept in the proper temperature until this curing process develops in the tobacco the stimulating taste and fragrant aroma found in Schnapps tobacco, just as green coffee is made fragrant and stimulating by the roasting process.
Only choice selections of this ripe, juicy flue cured leaf, grown in the famous Piedmont country, where the best tobacco grows, are used in Schnapps and other Reynolds' brands of high grade, flue cured tobaccos.

Hundreds of imitation brands are on sale that look like Schnapps; the outside of the imitation plugs of tobacco is flue cured, but the inside is filled with cheap, flimsy, heavily sweetened air cured tobacco; one chew of Schnapps will satisfy tobacco hunger longer than two chews of such tobacco.

Expert tests prove that this flue cured tobacco, grown in the famous Piedmont region, requires and takes less sweetening than any other kind,
and has a wholesome, stimulating, satisfying effect on chewers. If the kind of tobacco you are chewing don't satisfy, more than the mere habit of expectorating, stop fooling yourself and chew Schnapps tobacco.

Schnapps is like the tobacco chew-ers formerly bought costing from 75c.
to $1.00 per pound; Schnapps is sold at 50c. per pound in 5c. cuts, strictly 10 and 15 cent plugs.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

Large Employer of Labor Says His Wants No Whistling Workmen.

"Tis said to puncture an old axiom," said the employer of a large number of men, "but my experience with other men enables me to let a little of the air of fallacy out of the old saw which grinds out a platitudes that the 'whistling workman' is the best, or that the 'singing cook'
makes the best sauce."

"From early childhood we are taught to place the workman who whistles and sings at the bench or over his work as the ideal of his kind. In theory perhaps this idea holds good, but from an experience of 30 years in the handling of men I will pass the whistling fellow by for the one who does not whistle or sing while at work. And I have found this true in clerical pursuits as well as those involving manual labor.

"When a man is not working whistling or singing produces a certain amount of mental relaxation; it denotes a certain vacancy of mind. It is impossible for a man to whistle or sing if the mental faculties are at all absorbed in work. It requires mental concentration of more or less effort to turn out good work or to produce satisfactory results in any calling.

"Whistling interferes with this concentration, though the concentration may, by reason of a perfect knowledge of the work being turned out, have become mechanical on the part of the workman. The singing or the humming of a tune produces still greater mental vacancy. It is in these moments that workmen make mistakes, often costly ones to themselves or to their employers."

HERMIT CLAIMS FORTUNE.

Henry Raciliff, who has been leading the life of a hermit in a little hut at North Muskegon for a number of years, has gone to his old home in New York state to claim a fortune, said to amount to $30,000, which was left him by his brother.

At one time Raciliff was a prosperous merchant in his native
state, but during a poker game one night, shortly before the civil war, he was accused of cheating after he had raked in a large stake at cards. During the altera-cation which followed it was said that he drew a revolver and shot
his opponent dead in self-defense.
A wealthy broker refused Raciliff financial assistance at the time of the trial, and when he was finally acquitted he was pen-iless and broken down in health.
He stole away from the scene of his alleged wrongdoing, and after wandering about the country finally settled down at North Muskegon, where he has lived in his little hut for many years.

TWO OF A KIND.

"Say, what's the matter with this coffee?" queried Slopat.
"Same thing that's the matter with you, I suppose," answered the landlady; "it's a little slow about settling."

THEIR GIFT TO "TEACHER"

Little Ones Meant Well and the Incident Is One of Instructor's Treasured Memories

She was one of the prettiest little school-teachers who had ever taught in the district and speedily won the adoring love of her pupils. At the close of the term it was thought a proper token of the esteem in which she was held, and ten minutes before the school was to close the young woman with a gift. Although the schoolhouse was four miles from the city, at an early hour of the last day of school the boys and girls in the committee trudged into town, in pursuit of the much-talked-of present.
They were not rich, these little people, and ten minutes was a good deal to them. Hopefully they visited store after store, but nothing was good enough for "teacher." Finally nearly seven o'clock in town had been visited,
without finding the desired present.
At last they found it, and great was their delight. Everyone was perfectly satisfied, and when they gave her the treasured gift, proud little ones were her faithful pupils. What teacher thought as she opened the package of new paper and pens, and the tissue paper and pink ribbon, she unrolled to view a bright-colored shaving mug with her initials in gilt letters, inscribed upon it. Deep down in the mug hidden in much rose-colored stuff, was a bottle of wild rose perfume, whose penetrating odor "teacher" inhaled in despair. With many thanks she expressed her pleasure for the beautiful gift, and generously gave the children lavish measure of the rose perfume. It had been long since she taught in that little school hill, but the memory of those little pupils is ever fresh in her heart, and the shaving mug is still among her most treasured possessions.

A Wonderful Story.

Mr. Newton McCormick, of this county, tells this story. His son, Marshal, was a resident of Rock Castle county. It was a dry season, and the water question was the absorbing topic of the residents. His son's water supply was becoming scarce and the father nearly a hundred miles away, advised of conditions, sent this message: He had never been on the premises. Lift the top off the cistern, remove the bottom and drill down fifty-six feet." At first the son's family laughed, but when the water was out friends were called in and beginning at six o'clock in the morning, the desired depth was reached at three o'clock in the afternoon, and abundance of lithia water was found and one hundred and fifty head of stock and two hundred famishing people were supplied with water. This occurred seventeen years ago and the water is as abundant today as when first discovered.

Operators Wanted.

Fiscal Court.

In our last issue, we gave a brief account of the proceedings had at the meeting of the Fiscal Court last week.

For attempting to act as Magistrates at that meeting, in defiance of the judgment of conviction for malfeasance, rendered at the last term of our Circuit Court, Commonwealth's Attorney Alex. Comer has instituted penal actions against J. W. Henry, T. N. Perry and C. L. Dean for usurpation of office and asked for a fine of $1,500.00 (the maximum amount named in the Statute) against each.

A penal action is equivalent to an indictment and under the law, if judgment is secured, its payment can be enforced by imprisonment. These cases will be appearances for the next January term of Court.

For Sale.

My farm of 260 acres, situated on the Sharpshurg and Mt. Sterling pike, one mile from the former and nine miles from the latter place. It contains a good comfortable dwelling of six rooms, a tenant house, a good tobacco barn 108 feet long, a splendid stock barn, and other out-buildings including a pair of stock scales on the side of the pike. A well of water in the yard, and several pools of never failing water on the farm. I had in cultivation this season about 60 acres; the remainder in blue grass timothy and clover. It has about 40 acres of woodland on it, mostly cherry and oak. I shall be glad to show it at any time. Any one desiring to buy address or call on me

LOCAL OPTION IN SCOTT

Judge Stout Directs that Georgetown Vote Also.

A decision was given by Circuit Judge Robert L. Stout in the mandamus case against County Judge J. J. Yates, to compel him to call the election petitioned for by the local optionists for December 8 for Scott county. Judge Yates refused to include Georgetown, a fourth-class city, because it had gone wet several weeks ago on an election also called by the local optionists, upholding the three-years' bar. Judge Stout sustains the County Judge in refusing a special registration, interpreting judicial powers in the case, but asserts that only ministerial authority is given in calling the election, and that he must order the same.

The Appellate Court will be asked to reverse this decision, but it is hardly thought that the court could reach it till after December 8. However, in the event of the county voting "dry," the election will doubtless be contested by the "wets" against its application to Georgetown.

Words of Condemnation and Commendation.

The news that came from Mt. Sterling telling of the defeat of the "Drys" in that city has its sadness tempered by the great victory for the cause of temperance in Woodford and Lincoln Counties, and in the city of Nicholasville. Nevertheless, we in Eastern Kentucky were more interested in the election in Mt. Sterling than in any other. Carter County has had no open saloons for years. Rowan vindicated the righteousness and wisdom of her citizenship by driving out the saloons several years ago. Then Bath took up the fight and gained a great victory.

Our first defeat in the battle for freedom from the open saloon has been suffered in Mt. Sterling. For a long time that city has been invested by the worst gang of thugs and cut-throats in the state. Our Circuit Judge has without fear or favor done his duty there, as elsewhere in the district, and has about broken up the gambling dens that so long had been traps to young men from the country and the mountains, traps where if the denizens could not win a man's money by gaming they would resort to murder. Many a young man has been found on the railroad track, who had been taken there dead, and robbed even of the spurs on his feet. We cannot, however, blame the good people of Mt. Sterling. They made a grand fight, led by Editor Trimble. [We helped some, but were not the leader.—Ed.] A few votes more than twenty would have won the day we understand. The temperance people are alive to fight another day.—The Mountaineer, Morehead.

Drys Win in Hancock.

Returns from the local option election held here show that the "drys" won in the county by 375 majority.

Wets Win in Jellico.

The local option election in Jellico, Ky., resulted in a victory for the "wets," the vote standing 81 for license to 15 for prohibition.

Special.

A special train passed through here on Monday from Washington State to Newport News carrying 175 artillerymen, 8 cannon wagons, 200 horses, etc., destined for Cuba.

Farm for Sale!

I will offer for sale my farm of 200 acres, located 6 miles west of Nicholasville, in 2-section county.

Thursday, October 18, 1906.

The land is in high state of cultivation, running water entire length of farm; the improvements are two tenement houses, two stock barns, two tobacco barns, a good road near the churches, shop, store and rural mail.

TERMS.—One-third cash, balance in 1, 2 and 3 years at 6 per cent. interest on the deferred payments and sale retained on land. At same time will sell a lot of stock, crops and farming implements. DEATHS.

FITZPATRICK.—Mrs. Elizabeth Fitzpatrick, aged 58 years, died at her home in this city on Wednesday morning, Oct. 3rd, 1906. She was the widow of John Fitzpatrick, who died about Jan. 2nd, 1890. She was the daughter of Thomas Greenwade Sr., deceased, of Menefee County. She leaves four children, Artie, Taylor, May and Farmer. She has for many years been a member of the Spencer Christian Church. She has been an invalid with consumption. The funeral service was held at the residence on Friday at 2 o'clock, by Rev. H. D. Clark and B. W. Trimble. The burial was in Muehlbach.

LEDGIDGE.—On Sunday afternoon, Oct. 7, at Frankfort, Ky., Mr. Henry Ledridge, aged 25, was cut walking near the city. Some friends went out hunting and target shooting and were above him on the hill. A rabbit jumped up. Probably a 4 or 5 of the group shot at the rabbit. A ball from one of the guns struck Mr. Ledridge in the top of the head. He fell unconscious. He lingered until Wednesday afternoon at 5:20, when death resulted.

He was in the employ of a planing mill and was an industrious and sober young man. His father died six weeks ago. A mother, three sisters and two brothers are left. His sister, Mrs. M. R. Hainline, of this city, has the sympathy of many friends.

CRAWFORD.—Mr. Tol. Young Crawford died at his home in Bambridge, La., on Saturday night, Sept. 29, 1906. He had been sick with fever for a week. Stricken with heart failure he died suddenly. He was born in our city and was about 48 years of age. He moved to Columbus, Ga., about 25 years ago and engaged in the drug business. Later he began the study of law. He was elected City Attorney, and for some years was City Solicitor.

In May, last, he located at Bambridge. His family continued at Columbus until about Sept. 13, when they went to be with him. He leaves a wife and five children. Mr. Crawford was a member of the Presbyterian Church. The funeral service was held by his pastor on Monday afternoon and the burial was at Columbus.

Many of our people remember him. His mother, Mrs. Mariah Crawford, and sister, Mrs. H. R. French, are residents of our city, and his brother, James, lives at Columbus, Ga. To them we extend our sympathy.

Prof. Richard Warren, aged 29 years, of Ky. State College, died on Monday, result of kick by a horse on Saturday.

Jas. Roberts, of Fayette, one of Morgan's men, died on Monday.

RAMS.—At her home in this city, on Thursday, Oct. 4, 1906, Mrs. Lena Reis died of infirmities of age. She was about 77 years old. She was a member of the Methodist Church. The funeral service was held at the home on Sunday afternoon by Rev. H. G. Turner. She was a kind and loving mother, reflecting her life in the lives of her three sons, Charles, Edward and Vincent, to whom we extend our sympathy.

SOUTHERN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Bible Study Class Friday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. W. Stephens. Sabbath School at 9:45 o'clock every Sabbath. Preaching next Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock; no preaching at night. Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor Sabbath evening at 6:30 p. m. Subject: "Who are wise and who are foolish." Leader: Mrs. J. B. Meacham. Preaching at Springfield next Sabbath at 3 p. m.

Dr. J. J. Taylor, President of Georgetown College, one of the greatest and most eloquent preachers of the South will occupy the pulpit of the Mt. Sterling Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening. A cordial invitation is extended the public to hear this gifted preacher.

On last Wednesday the resignation of Rev. J. R. Hobbs, pastor of the Mt. Sterling Baptist church was noted on and accepted. It was unconditional. There was no alternative. Mr. Hobbs has been pastor for more than three years and the success of his labors are decidedly conspicuous. He found the church greatly oppressed by debt and the pastor used his powers to remove it, and today he leaves the church without debt, free to accomplish a great work. A fine speaker, a trained mind, powerful in reasoning and presentation, young and ambitious Mr. Hobbs is sure to occupy the pulpits of the strongest churches and we expect him to go from here to a larger field of greater opportunities. The church and the people generally will regret his going and best wishes and prayers will be for the greater success. Mrs. Hobbs is a discreet, charming woman, thoroughly in touch with church work, and will add greatly to Mr. Hobbs' usefulness and success.

Circuit Court News.

By oversight we omitted the following concerning Mr. Langston:

Owing to a technical defect in the proof regarding his qualification as City Jailor by taking the oath the court instructed the jury to acquit J. W. Langston, charged with the offense of permitting Porter Eubank to escape. Judge Young held that irrespective of how reprehensible his conduct might have been, since the Commonwealth had not shown that Langston had the legal right to hold prisoners, nothing could be done with him, under the proof, for permitting him to escape.

The fines of this court aggregated nearly $3,000 and a strong spirit of reform has begun to manifest itself in our community. Law-breakers are finding the way of the transgressor to be a hard one.

There was but little civil business transacted at last term of Court. The suit of J. Taylor Day vs. the Exchange Bank was again continued by the defendant. This has been on the docket about 14 years.
